Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurIn Toronto, 2032, the human race is all but extinct. Only a few humans have survived the Outbreak. Ewan, a former high school biology teacher, and his son Tim have made the Royal Ontario Museum their home, a last outpost of humanity. They are both haunted by the loss of their family who were savagely killed by the Creatures who now rule the Earth. Ewan has given up on having any kind of future for his son, but when they encounter another group of survivors he realizes they may have a chance against the Creatures. The survivors set out on an epic journey to find an antidote. But what they dont count on is a new, powerful force that has evolved from the ashes and is intent on exterminating humans all together.Prsentation de l'diteurIn Toronto, 2032, the human race is all but extinct. Biographie de l'auteur Guido Baechler was born in Lucerne, Switzerland. At the age of 19 he married and moved to the Sunshine State Florida where he started a family with two boys. He is a filmmaker, producer and writer. During the past two decades he travelled the world, living on several continents and made Australia, Texas and Canada to his home. During the second decade he started developing the story you are about to read. The project was known under R(e)Evolution as an early stage movie idea, later it became registered with WGA under the working title "Cause Effect" and finally made it's book release as re.EVOLUTION. This is Guido's first book and he felt it's best to team up with Joel Mark Harris, an acclaimed writer. re.EVOLUTION is the first part of a Trilogy.
